

“ I have always found the service they provide to be very professional, cost effective, reliable and flexible. I have found that their knowledge and expertise results in a speedy response to all queries and requirements. I have challenged MHC on several occasions and found on each occasion the service to be excellent. ”

The Client

A large International Chemical manufacturer and distributor had a pressing need to redevelop and streamline the majority of its in-house IT application systems.

The Requirement

This company required a solution in order to allow it to continue its expansion programme by rationalising and restructuring the internal workflow. MHC was invited to submit a proposal to affect these changes and a number of high level detailed discussions enabled us to gain a clear picture of what was required.

The Solution

MHC provided a team of 18 IT professionals with a broad spectrum of skills to assist and augment the client's in-house resource. As part of the client's initial remit, the speed of delivery was a critical factor. MHC was able to organise and complete the set specifications well within the project timings and budgets.

The Result

The resulting benefits to the client allowed them to continue their expansion programme with the confidence that their systems would function at the optimum level.

“ Without exception, the quality of service provided has been exemplary in meeting our stated requirements and MHC have delivered in the required timescale and at a price we have been prepared to pay ”

The Client

One of the world's leading international conglomerates needed to develop and implement a comprehensive and sophisticated resource management tool.

The Requirement

A system had to be designed which was to be used in a number of their worldwide subsidiaries and as an integral part of their bid process for major infrastructure projects around the globe.

The Solution

MHC was approached and following detailed high level discussions was tasked with producing, implementing and supporting the system. The system developed went beyond our client's original specifications. Additional user friendly features were incorporated which enabled the system to be utilized by more than the original intended users.

The Result

The project was successful and the comprehensive resource management tool produced exceeded our client's expectations.

“ We have found MHC to be most co-operative and willing in their endeavours to provide the best possible service together with advice and support. Their professional, cost-effective, flexible and ‘Customer Focussed Approach’ is the reason we are happy to continue this relationship ”

The Client

A major national transportation company was experiencing an on-going problem with efficiently managing their corporate utilities expenditure due to the disparate nature of their company structure.

The Requirement

The year on year financial implications were proving to be significant and consequently they were looking to implement a system that would not only alleviate this expense but also provide a net saving.

The Solution

Following consultation with a number of other solution providers, MHC was chosen to create a structure that consolidated and clarified all the expenditure into a centrally managed information system.

The Result

The resulting benefits provided an initial saving of £5 million in the first year and £2 million in subsequent years.
